From the President's Pen. . . .

A warm welcome to all members of CDFHS.

This year seems to have gone by so quickly with Christmas just around the corner.

Our September course entitled "Convict Records" conducted by David Beddie was well attended with David inspiring a great deal of interest.

The topics for our October and November meetings are "Member's Interests" presented by our members. A time when we can learn from each other.

Our November course is to be conducted on Sunday the 18th November at the Campbelltown Library beginning at 11am through to 3.30pm, we ask that you arrive 15 minutes prior to the start. The topic being DNA.

The December meeting, last for this year will be held at Cataract Dam as in the past few years. Come along and have a great time together.

Our visit to SAGS on the 23 August was cancelled due to sickness of the person who was to be our guide and has been rescheduled for Thursday the 8th November. If you are interested in attending please contact Denise by e-mail on social@cdfhs.org.au or phone on (02) 46258612.

I would like to thank Denise for her tireless efforts in the organisation of speakers for our meetings. Many disappointments when they do not return her calls.

Our Volunteers have a break during December and January and are only called upon if there is an appointment made through the library.

Our first meeting for 2019 will be on the 2nd February and Denise is endeavouring to arrange our first outing in February to the State Records facility at Kingswood with other outings to Joadja, inland from Mittagong and a tour to the Hydro Majestic Hotel Blue Mountains. The Committee will also be organising our 30 year Anniversary celebrations.

I would like to thank all members of the Committee for making this year an interesting and informative one where we all benefited from the speakers and courses that where arranged and the suggestions that were put forward by you the members. Thank You.

I would like to wish all the Committee and Members a very joyous Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year.

How have you dealt with errors that other people have loaded onto the Internet.

I always approach these people with an apology that perhaps one of us had made a mistake, never with you are wrong!

The worst was one who refused to make alterations even after I had pointed out how the errors had occurred and that if he looked on Ancestry he would be able to see the actual certificates to prove what I was saying.

This was the best one of all

From me:

I hope you won't mind me butting in on your family tree but I have been following Sarah Hall and her siblings. I realised yesterday that Sarah could not be the mother of Emily Jane Cropper. I got a copy of the marriage certificate for Nathaniel and Sarah in 1897 which shows him as a widower. I found an earlier marriage to Rayner Ramsey Chadwick in St. Edmund Falinge and the GRO birth registration and LancsBMD for Emily Jane in1887 shows the mother's maiden name as Chadwick. LancsBMD has the death of Cropper Rayner 1890 age 31 Wardleworth Rochdale. 1911 census Sarah (Hall) Cropper declares that she has had no children. Carole brycar@tpg.com.au

His reply (almost by return mail)

Oh thankyou carole for messaging me. I have made the changes. I really appreciate you making me aware of my error. Bless you!! If you find any other errors, feel free to message me again! Have a great evening!!

He made the corrections almost straight away. He had not found Nathaniel and his daughter on the 1891 census so I emailed him again with the census references and the images for each of them are now included with his tree.

This is the best result I have had from quite a few contacts with tree owners many of whom don't respond probably because they no longer look at their trees

George Blanning

Following are relevant communications.

1. Good Morning John,

My name is Robert Palmer. My grandmother (my mother's mother) was Marjorie May Wade (nee Blanning) the daughter of George Henry and Elizabeth Carter Blanning (nee Wade).

I am confused and the reason is that in all my documentation I have, and am willing to share with you, is that George Blanning who migrated to Australia does not have a middle name Henry. Would you mind sharing your info with me so I can correct my tree.

On some of the info I have it suggests that George came from London and I found a George living with his parents John and Bridget and sisters in London (1861 British census). George was born about 1844-46 in Bristol. My gut feeling is that this is our George but I can not find a birth record for him. If his mother is Bridget what info do you have to support this?

On the census it states that his father is John. Where does the Stephen come from?

Do you know that George died on the 26 Dec 1883 around the Spicers creek area? Amelia stated this on their son Stanley's birth certificate and a family story was that he was killed by aboriginals. Have you heard that? The info I have on George is sketchy and any info you could share with me so I can make my tree right would be very much appreciated.

For your info:

Marjorie married Roy Thomas Henry Wade, thy had three daughter's; Doris May Wade b. 10 Jan 1924 Gulgong. d. 28 May 2016 Kogarah. Lola Beatrice Wade b. 1 Sep 1925 Gulgong d. 8 Jun 2014 Revesby. Bessie Margaret Wade b. 12 Feb 1929 Gulgong d. 26 May 2018 Mittergong Thanking you Best Regards, Robert

2. Taylor Barrow Jun 29, 2018 Hi Robert,

My grand daughter has done all of my family tree research on Ancestry through the ancestry hints and other family records.

I don't know where the middle name Henry came from but I think this might be incorrect, my grand daughter can't seem to find where she got this name from.

Through ancestry hints a variation of 'George Blanning's' have appeared and through this, my grand daughter has looked at birth certificates and census records and finds that she too thinks this is the same George you are talking about. This is all the information we have found thus far:

Birth - 1844/45 in Bristol, Somerset, England

Arrived in Australia - 11 June/Jul 1886 in Brisbane

- This record was found in the Queensland, Australia Passengers List 1848-1912
- Ship Name = Star Of England
- George's Age 21
- Port of Departure London, England

Married to Amelia Mary Tattersall in Gulgong, NSW, Australia on 14th Nov 1877

- Found on the Australia, Marriage Index 1788-1950
- Registration Number = 3651

Birth of Siblings;

- Maria Blanning (born 9th August 1849 in Bristol and died in Oct 1903 in St Olave, Southwark, London, England)
- William Blanning (baptised on the 8th Oct 1837 in Carlisle, Cumberland, England and died in 1838)
- Joseph Blanning (born in April 1840 in Scarborough, Yorkshire, England and died in April 1840)
- Sarah Ann Blanning (born bt 1850 in Tweed, England)
- Louisa Maria Blanning (born in 1842 and died in 1865)

Parents;

John Stephen Blanning

- born/baptised on the 18th September 1814 in St Paul's, Bristol, England
- died in July 1881 in London, England.

Bridget Fallen

- born in 1816 in Kingscounty, Ireland
- died in February of 1881 in London, England

They married in Somerset, England in 1842.

Census;

1861

- Location Poplar, Middlesex, England
- Son of the owner of the house

I have found on record that shows George's fathers full name is John Stephen Blanning though the England, Select Births and Christenings, 1538-1975 with FHL Film Number: 1596642

I have a record saying that George Blanning was baptised on the 12th of June 1845 in Kindle, Cork, Ireland but am unsure on how correct this information is, however its does say on this record that his parents are John Blanning and Bridget Fullan.

In my information about George, it says that he died on the 4th December 1940 in Granville, NSW, Australia which I don't think is correct as this means he died aged 96. I did not know about the information on Stanley's birth certificate and the story of how he was killed, this is very interesting do you have anymore information on this?

A lot of this information was found through other family trees, so it might not be 100% correct.

I hope this helped, if you would like any more information about George's grandparents etc, I would love to help. Also, if you would like any photos of these documentation (records, birth certificates etc) I'd be happy to send them to you!

Thanks,
John Blanning

What A Poem About A Goose Teaches Us About Property

In the 18th and 19th centuries a series of laws were passed in Britain called the Enclosure Acts. Which is a more boring sentence than I had hoped to start with, but what can you do, It's a fact. Now, here's a poem about stealing a goose. There's a connection, I promise.

The law locks up the man or woman Who steals the goose off the common But leaves the greater villain loose Who steals the common from the goose. The law demands that we atone When we take things we do not own But leaves the lords and ladies fine Who takes things that are yours and mine. The poor and wretched don't escape If they conspire the law to break: This must be so but they endure Those who conspire to make the law. The law locks up the man or woman Who steals the goose from off the common And geese will still a common lack Till they go and steal it back.

A folksy song about an old-fashioned goosenapping or a howl of indignation against the greatest theft of all, the theft of a country? You decide. The year is 1607, you're a Leicestershire peasant out for a jaunt when you spy a fine goose on yonder hill. Maybe I'll take that goose, you think to yourself. No big deal. It's nobody's goose, nobody's land. But just as you stuff the honking waterfowl into your trousers and make to leave you're apprehended by a sheriff. You've committed a crime—a new one to you: trespassing on private property.

You see, in days of yore there was such a thing as common land, the small holdings of peasants which they pooled together to form an open ground for grazing their own animals and cultivating their own crops. This was separate from the land which they worked for the profit of the landowner. Now the landowner technically owned the commons as well, but by tradition he had always allowed the tenants to avail of this rent-free amenity, known as the commons. However, by the time of our unfortunate poet's writing, that tradition was breaking down. Sheep and cattle had long since become more profitable, and were certainly more edible, than peasants, so landowners had been throwing the peasants off their land to consolidate the commons' and the smallholdings into something like the large scale farms we see today, suitable for large herds of cattle and sheep to be reared for the growing export market. This process resulted in the Enclosure Acts which formally annulled the institution of the commons and provided a legal basis for them to be enclosed by landowners. So what became of the "commoners" who used to live off the fat of the land, now that that land had become private property? Things didn't work out well for them. Forced to leave their homes but with nowhere else to go they migrated to the cities and swelled the numbers of the urban poor who would later work in the factories that powered the industrial revolution. Others wandered the land as homeless beggars. In fact, vagrancy became such a problem it warranted the passage of several laws to clamp down on it, like the "Rogues, Vagabonds, and other Idle and Disorderly Persons Act" of 1744 which carried a penalty of up to one month in a "House of Correction". This, however, was a vast improvement on previous anti-vagrancy laws which had at times included punishments like spending three days in the stocks; two years' of enslavement; even death.

Fun times. Anyway, by the early 19th century, the commons had disappeared, the only trace of the institution we have left being in the idea of a village green or in place names like Wimbledon Common. But in another sense the idea of the common has survived in modern concepts like the creative commons, open source learning, and websites like Wikipedia where property, (intellectual rather than physical property) is made freely available for all to use without having to pay for copyright. In a broader sense too the perennial political debate about whether services and resources should be nationalised or privatised can be seen as a modern reenactment of the commons vs enclosures debates. And lastly, the spirit of the anonymous poet lives on in the long tradition of folk music and protest songs that lament the demise of long standing community structures in the face of modernisation, mechanisation, and economic efficiency. So you can no longer rear your goose on the common, but you can download a picture of one for free. This is progress, I'm told.

Connecting With Roy – A Local Detective Story By Jan Neaves.

Do you feel that family history research is like a detective story?

Ever since I heard that Hurlstone Agricultural High School was going to be renamed as the ROY WATTS HIGH SCHOOL, I was intrigued. Who was ROY WATTS?

My family tree has a large number of people names Watts. All are descended from 2 ex-convicts: - English William Watts and his Irish wife Ann (O'Brien) Watts, who were Hunter Valley pioneers. Perhaps I am related to Roy? Let me try to find out. The detecting began.

When I read an article in the Daily Telegraph newspaper how very special Roy Watts was, I was very impressed with his achievements. Presented with an Order of Australia, agricultural scientist and veterinarian, proud ex-student of Hurlstone; he became Director General of the Agricultural Department. Roy died in 2001.

I discovered Roy Mervyn Watts was born in Glenfield in 1916, son of Florence Annie (Towns) Watts and Henry Hilton Watts. N.S.W/ Birth Certificate number 1597/1916 informed me of this. He attended Glenfield Primary School, so must have lived locally.

His father, Henry Hilton Watts was born in Patrick's Plains (now Singleton, NSW) to Jane (Price) Watts and Alfred Alexander Watts in 1869. Birth Certificate number 16563/1869. One of ten children, he had one brother and eight sisters.

As I continued to check the NSW BDM certificates, I became sure that Roy should be on my family tree. The on-line family history facility for Birth Certificates allows access till 1918. Luckily, Roy was born in 1916, so his details were available for my research. However, there were no matching records on the "My Heritage" ancestry site. So, short cuts to results for me. Was Roy a relative??

Roy's grandfather Alfred was born in Warkworth, NSW in 1840. (B.C. 874/1840). Except for their son James (who was killed in an argument at 14 by another boy) all their other children went on to follow their example and raise successfully large families in country N.S.W. Many were farmers.

I'm descended from Alfred's oldest brother George Watts. S I guess I'm one of Roy's many distant cousins. If the others became aware of him; they would become extremely proud, as I am. Roy Watts Rd, Glenfield is also so named.

Although the changing of Hurlstone's name is quite controversial, (as it comes with the selling off of it's agricultural land by the government) if it has to be changed; Roy's name is a very worthy one, I believe. A plaque honouring him was dedicated in the school grounds.

I am sure our convict ancestors would be super proud of their illustrious greatgrandson. Their transportation, though rough and challenging; provided them and their family with amazing opportunities in this new continent, unimaginable in their poor British origins.

Social Secretary's Report

Sunday 23rd Sept we had our CONVICT COURSE. It was a full house, which was great to see, a lot of these people were non members and we had one lady join up with several more people taking membership forms. David did a very informative presentation, thank you to Kim for providing refreshments as always.

Our next course on DNA will be on Sunday 18th November. I am already half full for this one so if you wish to attend please book with me now.

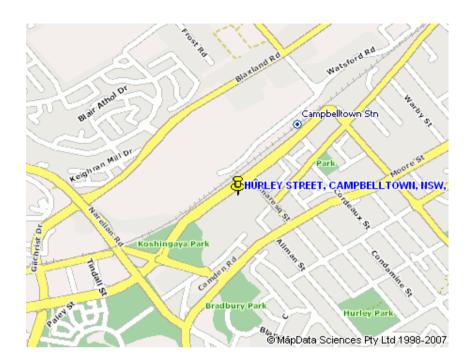

The trip to SAG is back on, its now Thursday 8th November, same agenda as before and I cannot change that date, if you wish to attend, please book early.
